PERSONAL ITEMS.What People are Doing in and Out of Roanoke.

Miss Lizzie McClanahan, who has been quite sick for the past three weeks at her home on Third street s. w., is convalescent. Her friends will read this announcement with pleasure.

Mamie Shelton, Sallie Porter, Bessie McConnell, and Kate Smith were arrested yesterday on a warrant charging them with keeping a bawdy-house. They were released on $10 collateral each to appear for trial Tuesday morning next.

George J. Worthington, until recently chief draughtsman of the Roanoke Machine Works, has resigned his position with the works.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trout, formerly of this place, but now living at their old home at Cave Spring, have returned from a two months' visit to friends in Missouri. They were highly pleased with the country, but saw nothing on their journey that pleased them as well as Roanoke.

J. E. Mulcare, the stove and tin man of First avenue s. w., had his new delivery wagon out for the first time yesterday.

The dummy line will start a car between Roanoke and Salem this morning at 7 o'clock to run every hour, and in a few days two cars will be run between the two places every half hour.

William E. Arnold, a waiter at the Stock Yards Hotel, was arrested by Officers J. A. Vest and Merriman last night, for forcibly taking from a white boy a cow, the ownership of which is in dispute.

A meeting of the three fire companies will be held to-morrow night for the purpose of urging the Council to establish an electric alarm system for the city.

The Junior Hose Company is having Rorer Hall extensively repaired. The work of repair and painting will cost $500.

Two negroes, thought to be from Big Springs, were arrested last night by Officer Petzold, for stealing. Their names are T. H. Palmer and Robert Olmstead.

MAYOR'S COURT.

Mayor Evans being yet absent, Acting Mayor Hantorn expeditiously disposed of the following case yesterday morning:

George Hite, disorderly conduct, paid $3 for his amusement.

A white man who had prudently forgotten his name, or who was properly ashamed of his action, paid $5 into the court for committing a nuisance on the streets.

George Bailey, a negro tough, who is also known as "Tennessee Bill," was fined $12 for being drunk and disorderly. Bailey complains that Roanoke justice is rather summary, and threatens to deprive the city of his valuable presence. J. F. Briscoe was guilty of committing a nuisance in a public place and was fined $5.

Charles Goings, alias William Harleston, was mulcted in the sum of $10 for assuming proprietorship of the town and raising a disturbance in trying to oust the inhabitants.

Joseph Abbott, charged with being drunk and disorderly and with resisting the officer who arrested him, was fined $15.

J. F. Thurman, for an unornamented drunk, was taxed $2.

Pat. Brown, arrested for vagrancy, was released on a promise to go to work or leave the city.

John Coleman, disorderly conduct and resisting an officer, fined $12.

Joe Adams indulged in a plain drunk Friday night and yesterday paid $3 to the city for it.

Hallie Stewart was fined $3 for disorderly conduct and she, in connection with M. F. Morris, was also fined $5 for fornication. M. F. Morris received a similar reminder of the law's majesty.

TO SPREAD THE WORD.

Roanoke Seeks to Send the Tidings From Greenland to Cathay.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Greene Memorial Church have been holding daily meetings during the past week at that place of worship, and the work of the week will close this morning with an address by the Rev. Mr. Boyd on the work of that society and the amount of good that has been done. The week just gone through with is what is known in the church as the "week of self-denial and prayer."

The Women's Missionary Society of Roanoke has its home in the Methodist Church of this city and has been in existence since 1880, two years after the society was re-organized. Since then the work of foreign missions has made rapid progress and general interest has been manifested.

The society in this city now numbers some seventy-two members.

The monthly meetings are held on the first Friday of the month. The present officers are Mrs. J. T. Smoot, president; Mrs. T. W. Crozer, treasurer, and Mrs. T. T. Fishburne, corresponding secretary.

Some funds have been collected throughout the week, and the collection to-day will be devoted to the cause.

WANTED—A good reliable boy who has had experience in feeding processes and understands something about them. Apply in person at once to HAMMOND'S Printing Works.

The regular monthly meeting of the Roanoke Real Estate Exchange will be held at their rooms over J. K. Green & Co.'s store, Jefferson street, to-morrow, Monday night, at 8 p. m. Every member is requested to be present, as very important business will be transacted. By order of the president, L. W. TERRILL, secretary. nov30-1t

WEST END FURNACE.The Furnace Lighted Up Yesterday.

The West End Furnace was lighted up yesterday, with an expectant little crowd standing around to witness the opening of this great industry of Roanoke. Several ladies were in the crowd.

The honor of applying the initiatory match, if the expression may be used, fell to Mrs. Manie, the wife of the superintendent of the West End Works, and promptly at fifteen minutes after ten yesterday morning she applied the torch, and the blaze spouted out, to the entire satisfaction of the superintendant and the delight of the little assemblage of witnesses, among whom were a number of ladies.

Superintendent Manie told a Times reporter that there was not a sign of a hitch in any of the movements arranged for the starting of the mighty iron works.

As a Times reporter descended the path of the steep hill that leads to the iron works, the sun had just disappeared in the west, and a crimson sunset formed a pretty background for the dark, grim furnace that roared at the foot of the hill, spouting its yellow flame from the casting notch of the furnace, while the noisy little Roanoke, as it curved around the furnace, blushed with the horizon's red reflection.

An artist would have rejoiced to have seen the picture and caught it with his brush.

Down at the furnace the men were getting ready for work. A long yellow flame was shooting from the casting notch, for the furnace had been blowing off all the afternoon. The night shadows gathered round, and while the furnace roared, as if testing the power of its mighty iron lungs, the flowing rush from its mouth sent upward toward the roof successive flights of sparks like ascending meteoric showers in miniature, and at the same time it cast a weird glow upon the dusky faces of the negroes, as they stood here and there in the long sanded bed, ready to arrange the moulds, in which the pigs are soon to be cast.

Superintendent Manie said that he would be making pig iron by Monday at the longest.

General Manager Henry King, when interviewed by a Times representative, last evening said: "Well, I'm pretty tired to-night, after the first day's work. We have built and completed and set in motion the great furnace of the Roanoke Iron Company within one year. Besides, we are building now two rolling mills, which will be completed before next summer."

The reason why advertisers like THE TIMES is because their advertisements prove profitable.

THE CHURCHES.

Order of Religious Services in Roanoke's Houses of Worship for To-day.

The funeral services of Miss Ella Julius will be conducted by Rev. J. A. Huffard at the home of Mr. J. H. Webb on Sixth avenue, s. e., this morning at 9 o'clock. Burial will take place at Cave Spring this afternoon.

A Gymnasium Proposed.

There is a movement on foot among several of the young men of the city to organize a gymnasium. If the proper co-operation can be secured from the young men interested in athletics the scheme will be an assured success. The idea is to not only have a full set of apparatus, but in conjunction to have a reading room in which the periodicals of the day may be found.

Any one contemplating the purchase of a piano or organ will find it to their interest to call on or write the Honnig Music Co., Lynchburg, Va., for full information regarding musical instruments. This responsible firm handle the Knabe, Kranich & Bach, and New England pianos and Estey organs. Lowest prices.

Attention, Firemen.

All members of the three companies of the Roanoke Fire Department are requested to attend a meeting at the Vigilants' hall on Monday night at 7:30, December 1st, to take some action towards urging the Council to hurry the matter of an electric alarm system.
